HITTING THE PIPE.

Smokers of Harlem Propose Smoke Scientifically. A batch of Harlem men are going to teach country full of people how to smoke, reports the New York Sun. It is safe to say that the average American is not a scientific smoker, as he is not a scientific eater or drinker. The average American is too quick about all those things that make up the luxuries of life. One must go to old Holland to learn how to smoke a pipe, and from a Flemish town the Harlem boys have imported the idea. These Harlem boys have started a new club, the object of which is to determine who can keep a pipe alight the longest-i. e., get the most and the best out of a "smoke." The membership is naturally limited, for few men know the art of reducing the fragrant weed to ashes in a pipe. The member who shows the greatest proficiency at the end of twelve months is to be elected president of the club and will serve

Pips smoking alone is allowed in the club, which has pleasant quarters fitted up with smokers' paraphernalia. The club meets officially once a week and the object of each meeting is a pipe-smoking contest. To sustain his fire the longest is the aim of every member during these contests. From week to week a record is kept and by this the presidency of the club is determined. One-fifth of the tobacco the ordinary smoker puts into his pipe is wasted. Careless smokers lose much more. The scentific smoker loses nothing and thereby saves a mint of money. He lights his pipe, smokes longer than the careless smoker and incinerates the entire contents of his bowl. What makes a scientific smoker. In the first place he must be careful in filling his pipe. He determines how long he wishes to smoke and measures the quantity of the tobacco he places in the bowl accordingly. He takes pains not to pack the tobacco either too hard or too loose. And he exercises

Granulated tobacco is the only fit thing to put into & meerschaum or a fine church warden clay Longcut should be used only in briars and other wooden pipes. Granulated tobacco tastes best when drawn from meerschaum or clay, although it does not color the former as quickly as the longcut. But who cares about that? Few longcut tobaccos reach the smoker in an unadulterated shape; therefore, it is the best for outdoor smoking. The

The Harlem club contests are held with chirch warden clay pipes. The contestants sit around a table. The tobacco is carefully weighed out by the president or some mem-MISSOURI FACIFIC RAIL.

A second bell announces the end of the lighting period and those who have not then lighted are disqualified for the evening's contest, This happens frequently, as all the members wait till the last minute to fire. Some of the most practiced smokers light only one side. The fire, if skillfully directed, will then spread, following the wall of the bowl, beginning to ascend the other wall, when the bottom is reached. Others light the carefully prepared apex and thus obtain a little incandescent fire at the center. Another thing-the smoker who reduces his tobacco slowly to ashes suffers no effects *7:45 am *9:05 pm granufated than in the long-cut. There is no smoke and no talk, the contest going on in silence, so that it is a rest to the tired mind as well. One hour and sixteen minutes is the highest record held by the president of the Harlem club for smoking one pipe, but that record may be broken before the close of the year.
